How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

For the 12-month period ended June 30, 2024, the Fund underperformed its benchmark, the Russell 1000 Index.

WHAT FACTORS INFLUENCED PERFORMANCE

Underperformance in the Fund was driven primarily by health care. Sentiment within health care was weak during the 3rd quarter of 2023, as investors continued to deliberate any potential impacts from GLP-1s. Information Technology was the best performing sector both in absolute terms and from a relative perspective, driven by NVIDIA Corporation, a market leader in advanced graphic processing units. The stock traded up sharply over the period following robust financial results and investor excitement for Artificial Intelligence, broadly.

POSITIONING

The Fund's allocation to Information Technology increased during the period, primarily from strong absolute performance and the additions of Cadence Design Systems, Marvell Technology and Workday. Our exposure to health care also decreased during the period due to the exit of DexCom. While DexCom executed on penetrating several patient populations during our 7-year ownership period, there are fewer unserved patient population into which the company can expand.

PERFORMANCE

The Fund delivered strong absolute performance during the period, underperforming the benchmark.
